

MindWire Open Workshop – Cancellation Policy

At MindWire®, we take pride in offering world-class learning experiences for our clients. Our workshops are designed to spark powerful breakthroughs in how leaders and teams perform. Each session blends science-based insights, practical tools, and experiential learning.

To ensure every participant gains the full value of the experience, we invest significant time in preparing materials, tailoring roleplays, and creating an environment where each person's presence enriches the group. When someone cancels late or does not attend, these efforts cannot be repurposed and the learning community is impacted.

By joining, you commit to a focused environment where every voice matters and full participation unlocks the greatest impact. We ask that you choose dates and times when you can be fully present, both for your own growth and for the benefit of others.

1. Participant Cancellations

Cancellations made more than 7 days prior to workshop start date will be honored. Any cancellation request can be sent to Support@MindWireGroup.com

- Cancellation less than 7 days before the workshop: You will be charged $350. Refunds and credits are not available.

2. No-Shows

Because we prepare materials and custom experiences in advance, participants who do not attend without notice are not eligible for a refund or credit and will be charged $350.

3. Exchanging Seats

If you choose to exchange your registration seat with another colleague from your organization, you will not be charged, provided that colleague attends the full session.
